At the University to-night it was announced that, notwithstanding the Waggaman failure, by which the University will lose at least part of the $375,000 which has been invested through Waggaman, the work of the institution would go on with greater vigor than ever before. ### RETAIL DEALERS MEET.

Addressed by Mayor McCarthy and Mr. Johnson, of Charlotte. A well attended meeting of retail merchants, representing all lines of business, was held at Murphy's Hotel last night to hear speeches on the objects and benefits of the Retail Merchants' Association.

The principal speaker was Mr. Norman H. Johnson, of Raleigh, N. C. He was introduced by Mayor McCarthy, after the latter gentleman had given the merchants a graceful welcome. Mr. Johnson's speech was mainly taken up in presenting the work of the association. He showed that it was not only a good thing for the city, but a very important one to the individual as it protected him from the professional "dead ends" and minimized the losses in the general conduct of business.

The association was originally formed for grocers exclusively, but in other States it has reached out and taken in all classes of retail merchants. The purpose of the meeting was to amalgamate, for as the speakers said, there was much need for protection in dry goods, clothing and other stores as there was in the grocery business.

Mr. Johnson's speech was most interesting. Other speakers were Messrs. W. W. Tiller, George McD. Blake, F. W. Carter, president of the Richmond Retail Merchants' Association; J. H. Weaver, of Roanoke, president of the State Association.

Mr. Carter opened the meeting and introduced Mr. Weaver, who presided. After the speechmaking a number of resolutions were adopted, and the desire to join the association. A letter was read from the Norfolk branch, suggesting that a State organization be formed, embracing Richmond, Roanoke and Norfolk as the members.

There will be a State meeting here next September. The officers of the Retail Merchants' Association here are F. W. Carter, president; A. H. Pohlig, treasurer; W. E. Hazlegrave, secretary; W. A. Willoughby, attorney.

STRANGER DIES FROM ASPHYXIA

Found Dead in Bed at the Powhatan Hotel With the Gas Turned On.

Body is Still Unclaimed

Gave the Name of G. A. Cassell. Remains Now at Bileys Rooms.

The body of G. A. Cassell lies at Bileys undertaking establishment unclaimed by friends.

Mr. Cassell came to his death during Wednesday night through asphyxiation in his room at the Powhatan Hotel. He was found by the hotel manager, who turned on the gas and found the man dead. The body was found in bed, and the gas was turned on. The body was found in bed, and the gas was turned on.

Manager Friday was notified. The ambulance surgeon was sent for, but found it too late, and Coroner Taylor turned the body over to Bileys, where the remains will be kept until friends or relatives claim them.

May be From Henrico.

It was learned last night that a man answering the description of the dead man on Wednesday went to one of the hospitals here with a letter of recommendation from Dr. J. M. Allen, of Henrico, and was treated, and in lieu of cash offered to pay the fees in farm produce, stating that he had a small farm in Henrico county. Arrangements were not permitted, however, and he then went to the hotel, where he met his death either by accident or suicide.

From his general appearance the man is a countryman. One foot had been amputated, and he carried a pair of crude crutches. He also carried a pair of shoes, containing food, and a pocketbook with $2.04 therein.

A man giving the name of Haller stated at the hotel last night that he thought the dead man was from Pocahontas and that he was a native of Virginia, where his people lived.

Every effort will be made to locate his home and friends, and in the meantime the body will remain at Bileys.
